Simple Life, Real and False.

There is every reason to expect that Pastor Wagner's doctrine of the simple life will be misinterpreted by many Americans who will endeavor to practice it as a kind of fad. They will pose as lovers of the simple life. They will have chins, circles and gilds. They will read papers and rush into print.
They will start a cult, and by dint of persistent affectation they will convince themselves and their co-peers that they are the disciples of genuine simplicity.

The way to be simple in your manner of living is to be honest with yourself.
Don't let the first well advertised enthusiasm who comes along with a freak idea chart and forecast your scheme of life. Don't go wild about new cults and read papers about the promulgation of fancy innovations. The essence and gist of simplicity in life is to live your own life as it seems best for you to live it. —Chicago Journal.

Level Headed Boy.

Recently the editor of the Republican witnessed a scene from the rear end of a railroad train showing the fertility of resource possessed by a Kansas farmer boy. The boy had driven a big load of hay close to the crossing and waited for a train to pass. A spark from the locomotive set the hay on fire. Before the last car had passed it was in a big blaze. The boy did not stop to think. He hadn't time. He slid off, cranked the wagon, whipped up the horses, upset the load, and before the train was a quarter of a mile away the boy, the horses and the running gear of the wagon were at a safe distance from the roaring flames that consumed the hay. This young man is a genius, and if he is not elected governor he will be a millionaire before he dies. —El Dorado Republican.

Politics and Tense.

Representative Sydney E. Mudd of Maryland, who has coined many expensive political phrases, has just coined a new one, according to the Baltimore Sun. A young man wanted Mr.
Mudd to endorse him for a minor position. "Do you live in my district?" inquired the representative. "No, I live in Baltimore, but have lived in your district." "Well, young man," retorted Mr. Mudd, with a smile, "you should know there is no past tense in politics.
Politics deals only with the present and the future. However, I will violate the rule in your case and write you a letter of recommendation."

Our Money in Canada.

Canadians who travel in the United States and Americans who travel in Canada alike complain of the embar-assments incident to the different money issues of the two countries.
With characteristic good humor Americans, while they may complain at the annoyance, look upon it as one of the necessary evils of international vic-tuage, but Canadians are beginning to take a different view of it. One of them, a member of the Ottawa parliament, has even prepared a bill making the passing of foreign coin an indictable offense.

A Chinese Vegetable.

Louis XVI. earned the gratitude of France by introducing the potato, and now President Loubet is to add another dish to the table of president and people. The vegetable thus honored is the Chinese pea-tai, said to be highly appreciated at the Chinese court. The experiment is to be conducted in the Elysee garden. The vegetable is said to resemble cabbage in appearance and to have a delicious hazelnut taste.

BE ACCURATE.

One of the Best Mottos For a Young Man Entering Business.

The head of one of the largest dry goods commission houses in this city was asked the other day how it happened that his partner, upon whom the principal responsibility of the business rests, came to attain that position while not yet thirty years of age.
"Purely and simply on his own merit," he replied. "He came into my office one morning some ten or twelve years ago and told me that he had just finished school and was looking for a position. I happened to have an order or instructions he could be relied upon to carry them out, and do it correctly too.
He never started off on anything half cooked, so to speak. He was not afraid to ask questions and thus get his instructions straight before undertaking the work in hand. In fact, I might say that he does everything to the fact that he was always accurate in all that he did. You may think that I am preaching a sort of sermon, but if young men entering business positions, whether high or low, would take for their motto the two words, 'Be accurate,' and would live up to it, there need be no fear of the ultimate outcome of their undertakings." —New York Commercial.

A VERSATILE WOMAN.

Some of the Things For Which Phoebe Brown Was Famed.

Phoebe Brown died something over half a century ago, aged eighty. This extraordinary woman, who lived with her mother in a cottage nearly opposite the High Tor, at Matlock Bath, England, could walk nearly forty miles a day when young, could lift a hundred weight in each hand and carry fourteen stone. She undertook any kind of manual labor, as holding the plow, driving the team, thrashing wheat with the flail and thatching the stacks. Her chief avocation was breaking horses at a guinea a week. She always rode without saddles and was considered the best judge of horses and cows in the park.

But Phoebe had also a liking for sport and for art. She was a good shot and carried her gun on her shoulder.
She was fond of Milton, Pope and Shakespeare and performed on several instruments, including the flute, violin and harpsichord, and played the bass viol in Matlock church. She was a carpenter, mason and smith and mainly by her own hand labor built another room to the cottage for the reception of a harpsichord which a lady presented to her. At her own request a local cler-gyman wrote her epitaph, and here it is:

Here lies romantic Phoebe, Half Gypsy, half Hero;
A maid of mutable condition,
A jockey, cowherd and musician.

Muscles That Shut Out Cold.

"The muscles of the skin need training to educate them to contract vigorously on the slightest cold," says a medical writer, "to shut the blood out of the skin so quickly that the precious body heat will not be lost. You notice that when the skin is cold there is a 'goose skin' appearance. This is due to the contraction of the little muscles of the skin. The contraction of the muscles compresses the external blood vessels and drives away the blood from the surface, hardening and thickening the skin, which thereby becomes a better nonconductor. Thus the body temperature is maintained.

"It is because of the constant exposure to cold that the Indian's body is 'all face.' The skin of his whole body, not only that of the face, has learned to take care of itself."

A Tarpon Scarecrow.

Times and places there are where the tarpon have been so numerous and so free in their antics as to be a pest to the small fishermen, who in a certain bay once harpooned a lordly fish, lashed him to a keg and pointed him to the open sea.

Drawing the floating barrel, he went, splashing terror to his kindred, an aquatic scarecrow. And as the millitant hoghead, ferried by a leaping twelve stone fish, went marching down the bay all tarpon, great and small, took warning that they must keep their performances within the bounds of decency. —Country Life in America.
